Slater and Devil Fires Update

Sunday, October 11, 2020; 9:00 a.m.

The welcomed rain that meteorologists expected arrived yesterday, delivering rainfall amounts varying from one-half of an inch around Happy Camp to just under one inch on the northwestern portion of the Slater fire. The conditions represent a season slowing event providing opportunities for crews to better establish lines directly along the fire's edge.

Slater Fire - 156,417 acres and 75% containment

Along the northern perimeter of the fire, beginning near the Randolph Collier tunnel across to the Left Fork of Sucker Creek, operations are shifting toward patrol, allowing additional crews and resources to join efforts on the fire's edge along the Knopki and Chicago Creek drainages near Sanger Peak. In this area, firefighters are constructing line southward into the area burned by the 2018 Natchez Fire.

Along the southern flank of the fire, crews continue to patrol, monitor, and strengthen containment lines near Happy Camp and along the southwest flank up to Kelly Lake with a focus on increasing the depth of containment.

Hazard tree removal along the Grayback Road (also known as Happy Camp Highway) between Takilma and Happy Camp remains a high priority. This work will restore safe, reliable access for firefighters, residents, and those working to bring power back to Happy Camp.

Devil Fire - 8,849 acres and 55% containment

Mop up is complete on the northern perimeter of the fire along the Butte Fork of the Applegate River, 1040 Road, and Pacific Crest Trail, placing it in a monitor and patrol status.

Weather and Fire Behavior

Light rain is expected over the fire area in the morning, with a mid-day drying period, and showers possibly resuming through the night. Winds are transitioning into a west/northwest flow, with temperatures expected to reach the upper thirties and low forties. Smoldering and creeping fire behavior persists, especially under tree canopies.
